

Bay neighbors criticize unsightly school 'dump'

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Behind center field of the Bay St. Louis Little League grounds lie huge mounds of decaying refuse, apparently dumped by the Bay—Waveland School District.

Amid piles of tree trimmings are dilapidated tables, desks, cafeteria waste and assorted garbage.

Commagere Street resident Anna Ash has observed school trucks coming and going—unloading cups and other garbage collected after football games.

"The problem has gotten worse in the last few months," she said, prompting her to contact several officials, including City Councilman Charles Sciana, Supervisor Lisa Cowand, Mayor Eddie Favre and the Bay St. Louis superintendent's office.

Superintendent Robert Magee reported he had received calls last week about the condition of the dump.

"I contacted Sam Cuevas (Hancock County maintenance officer) and as soon as the weather is better the county is supposed to use a dozer to push it back," he said.

Cafeteria refuse, including milk and food cartons and decaying food, is "absolutely there illegally," according to Magee, who professed no knowledge of that situation.

A school employee, who was witnessed dumping a truckload of tree limbs and leaves Thursday, said contents of school dumpsters are routinely emptied at the site when they reach the 'overflowing' stage before the regular pick-up time by Gulf Coast Waste.

Magee was unaware of the practice and said "It will be stopped as of today."

The school system will continue to dispose of tree limbs at the site, according to Magee, who said a large amount of school property needed fence rows trimmed and trees pruned.

Supervisor Lisa Cowand would like to see a joint clean-up effort among city, county and school personnel. "We are willing to assist, but I don't necessarily want to push everything (all of the refuse) back," she said.

Mayor Eddie Favre agreed that a long term solution must be considered.

Rains delay oyster harvest in sound

Because heavy rains have contaminated water in oyster growing areas, there will be no oysters harvested off Mississippi reefs when the season opens Monday.

Water samples taken in the eastern Mississippi Sound by Bureau of Marine Resources biologists showed bacteria levels in excess of acceptable levels.

The reefs will remain closed until samples indicate the bacteria levels are acceptable.

BMR shellfish coordinator John Cirino estimates that the reefs will have to remain closed at least one week.

The BMR has established a taped telephone message to advise oyster fishermen of the opening and closing of reefs. The message can be reached at 385-5902.

Public meeting slated for Diamondhead area

Supervisor Lisa Cowand has called a November 15 public meeting for Diamondhead residents concerned about the condition of two main roads in the community.

According to Cowand, Golf Club Drive and Diamondhead Drive were "resealed", a process used to preserve the existing road. Several residents have complained of loose rocks and other conditions they find unacceptable.

County engineer Larry Seal and Sam Cuevas will attend the Wednesday night meeting at 7 p.m. at the Quality Inn in Diamondhead. Other members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors have been invited to attend.

Locker fire at Hancock has parents concerned about safety at school

BY D.C. HARVILL

A fire in a student locker at Hancock North Central Thursday is the "straw that broke the camel's back," according to a group of parents who claim fire safety equipment and preparation at the school are inadequate.

Smoke from the fire, believed to have been started by a student, filled the school, but school officials neither evacuated students nor called the fire department, the parents said.

"There was no fire, just smoke coming from the locker. Two teachers had taken a fire extinguisher from across the hall and I squirted the smoke with it. I was concerned but when I saw what it was, there was no reason to be," Assistant Principal Cecil Powell said.

"Smoke can kill, it doesn't have to be fire," said Georgia Haas, a volunteer firefighter whose grandchildren attend the school.

According to Deborah Sherwin, also a volunteer firefighter, said her daughter has a respiratory allergy and suffered from smoke inhalation.

The parents said the fire was only the latest thing to cause them to doubt their children's safety should there be a fire at the school.

A surprise fire drill conducted at the school Oct. 13 indicated that the school's officials and teachers are not adequately prepared to evacuate children in a fire situation, the parents said.

The parents support their claim citing deficiencies noted in a report by County Fire Marshal Jay Marsh following the drill.

According to the report, one teacher refused to evacuate the children in her charge, two other teachers walked out ahead of their students and did not check to see if they had followed and the fire alarm could not be heard in the school's trailer classrooms.

According to Principal Don Hillman, the teacher who refused to evacuate was an aide and had not been instructed about fire evacuation procedures. She since has been, he said.

Hillman addressed each of the deficiencies in a written response to the fire marshal.

According to the response, an attempt will be made to increase the volume of the alarm bell. Also the aide has been instructed in fire procedure, the letter said.

Another complaint issued by the parents centers around a valve missing from a water tank at the school.

If a fire erupted at the school, fire trucks could not be refilled without the valve, they say.

According to Hillman, the valve cannot be purchased by the school because it is not considered an educational item. If the fire department would supply the valve, school maintenance people possibly could install it, he said.

"We're going to write letters to the Governor, to Trent Lott, to everybody. Everybody is going to know about this problem, so when I have to come out here and haul out the charred body of a child they'll know why," Sherwin said.

Medford will compete in run-off

The candidate who finished third in Tuesday's election for the District 46 State Senate seat will face frontrunner Victor Frankiewicz Jr. in a Nov. 21 run-off.

Jerry Medford, running as a Republican, became eligible for the run-off when the second-place candidate, Terrell Randolph, conceded Thursday.

Randolph, who got 17 percent of the vote, announced the concession at about 5 p.m. Wednesday after conferring with the Secretary of State's office and front-runner Victor Frankiewicz Jr., who led with 47 percent.

"My reason is (Frankiewicz's) insurmountable lead," he said.

The factors he considered in his decision include the expense to the district of conducting a run-off, additional campaign expenses for the candidates and

HMC names directors

Last week Hancock Medical Center's Board of Trustees elected new officers for 1990. For the third year, Rev. Charles R. Johnson was elected board president. Rev. Johnson has been a board member since 1967. He is a retired priest of Christ Episcopal Church.

Other officers are John Rutherford, vice president, and Robert H. Baxter, secretary. The board consists of eight members, also including Charles (Dusty) Rhodes, Gerald Boos, David Peranich, William Tate III and Robert Genin, board attorney.

Chevis to serve as HMC chief of staff

Oct. 1 began a new year for Hancock Medical Center, and with that, a new medical staff executive committee.

Last week, the medical staff of HMC met to choose officers for 1990. The chief of staff, for the second year, is Bertin Chevis, MD, specialist in family practice. Dr. Chevis has been on staff with HMC for nine years.

His practice is located at 307 Uman Avenue in Bay St. Louis. Other officers are vice chief of staff, J. D. Rutherford, MD, pathologist; treasurer, James Crittenden, MD, specialist in internal medicine; secretary, Joseph Lee, MD, general surgeon; and member-at-large, Irene Koskan, MD, specialist in internal medicine.

Jazz fest planned in Biloxi Sunday

Jazz lovers will gather at the Royal d'Iberville Hotel in Biloxi on Sunday, Nov. 12 for the twelfth annual Jazz Festival sponsored by the Mississippi Coast Jazz Society.

Festivities will begin with the traditional parade of musicians, "Second-Liners" and jazz fans in the hotel parking lot at 2:15 p.m. A well-balanced musical program follows at 3 p.m. in the main ballroom of the hotel, featuring Connie Jones and the Crescent City Jazz Band of New Orleans.

Local jazz ensembles will also be entertaining, and musicians are invited to bring their instruments and join in the "jam sessions" which alternate with the programmed segments.

Donations at the door will be $5 for guests, $3 for members and $2 for students.

Festival proceeds will be applied to the Jazz Society's musical scholarship fund to benefit a high school senior of the three-county Gulf Coast area who plans to attend a Mississippi college or university. Final selection is made from the list of applicants provided by the school's band director or guidance counselor.

The Royal d'Iberville Hotel will offer special weekend packages for local and out-of-town jazz buffs who plan to attend the festival. The Le Petite Jazz Cafe will be open during the program with a special menu.

The Mississippi Coast Jazz Society, one of the founding members of the American Federation of Jazz Societies, boasts more than 1,700 members dedicated to promoting and perpetuating traditional jazz. The group meets on the last Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Royal d'Iberville for a free-style jam session and other musical programs.

March of Dimes urges pregnant women to join American Smokeout

As millions of smokers prepare to quit for 24 hours during the Great American Smokeout Thursday, Nov. 16, the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation is urging pregnant women and women planning pregnancy to stop smoking.

"Cigarette smoking is clearly associated with an increase in stillbirth, miscarriage, prematurity, low birthweight and infant death," says Dr. Rick Martin, assistant professor, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, University of Mississippi Medical Center.

"We hope that pregnant women who smoke will take advantage of the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout to give their babies the best chance for a healthy birth."

more. Babies born prematurely are often critically ill and frequently have severe respiratory problems.

Dr. Martin explains that smoking reduces the supply of oxygen and other nutrients to an unborn baby. Nicotine in a mother's blood causes blood vessels to contract, reducing the flow of blood to the baby. Carbon monoxide in the blood limits the amount of oxygen that can be carried.

But he adds that quitting smoking does help. Studies show that women who stop smoking early in pregnancy reduced their risk of having a low birthweight baby to nearly the same level as women who have never smoked. Even quitting or reducing smoking later in pregnancy can significantly increase the chance of having a normal-weight baby.

"The March of Dimes urges women planning pregnancy to stop smoking before conception," says Dr. Martin. "Women who cannot stop completely should try to minimize smoking, particularly during the second half of pregnancy when adverse effects on the fetus seem to be greatest."

Antique show and sale to help historical group

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Historical Society will be sponsor and beneficiary of the annual Christmas Antique Show and Sale presented by the Antique Association Dealers of the Gulf Coast.

The sale, set for 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. Nov. 17 and 18 and noon until 5 p.m. Nov. 18, will be presented at the Westside Community Center, 4010 W. Beach Blvd., Gulfport.

Admission is $2.50 and the proceeds from that fee will go to the historical society for its current project, an addition to the Kate Lobrano cottage.

Local antique dealers and society members are providing discount cards for the event. In addition, a Bay St. Louis restaurant, Mary's Eatery, has been chosen to provide the refreshments. Parking is free.

Dr. Larry Heller, current president of the Antique Dealers Association as well as a member of the historical society, said using the admission fees to the show for a benefit project has become an association tradition. Past sponsors and beneficiaries have included Diamondhead Academy, Muscular Dystrophy Association and Special Olympics.

Charles Gray, historical society president, said money raised through the show will become part of a fund for the addition to the cottage, which has been donated to the society and restored.

The society is arranging a donation of a five-by-five-by-eight-foot walk-in safe from a New Orleans shipping company, which will be placed in the addition to keep documents safe from fire.

The expansion of the cottage will also allow the society to move its office and computer from its present headquarters at Ruth's Bakery.

Bay St. Louis architect Kevin Fitzpatrick is designing the new archives room to complement the 1896 architecture of the cottage itself.

The Diamondhead Garden Club is assisting by researching the type of landscaping and ornamental plants appropriate for the cottage and plans to do the project in the style of 1896.

Gray feels the society is making progress and said he is delighted that the antique dealers have agreed to supplement the society's private donations, consignment shop proceeds and membership fees with the money from the show.

"We have about 60,000 documents right now and we really need a second computer," Gray said. "We have plenty of volunteer typists and when one finishes, another one is waiting in line behind the chair."

"We are still seeking documents and photographs," he added, explaining that the society appreciates donations of originals but does have the equipment to copy both papers and pictures.

The society, which has grown from a luncheon group with 31 members to 247 members acting in various capacities during the past two years, is attempting to document every family which has lived in Bay St. Louis.

For more information on the antique show and sale, contact Heller at 467-1304.

the fact that the race would be the only one in Harrison County and the Ocean Springs area.

A retired U.S. Customs agent, Medford admits he is facing a formidable challenge but said, "Under the good old American system, if I'm a candidate, I should stand up and be counted."

"We'll just try to give him as good a race as we can, knowing that he's got a tremendous head start," Medford said.

"That lead would take a multi-media blitz to overcome," said Randolph.

"I'm not going to let my ego stand in the way of common sense. I never was on an ego trip to be senator. I wanted to be a part of the senate because of what is going on in education right now," Randolph stated.

He explained that he was delighted to discover during his campaign that the educational issues he supports, as well as Governor Ray Mabus' general support for further educational reforms, is backed by grassroots support from people of almost every socio-economic class.

Hancock County has one other race, a run-off for East District constable between Leo Ladner and George Burleson.

LAST VISIT BEFORE CHRISTMAS!

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Over the years I have watched squirrels, blue jays, and wood peckers take their share of pecans. The latest invaders my wife Jane and I have seen are several large crows.

There are quiet a few pecan trees in our neighborhood, but the crows seem to prefer the paper shells on one of our trees.

They steal pecans and fly away to another large pecan tree in the field behind our house and eat away.

I guess we were lucky that this year's crop was better than it has been in several years, so we can afford for the crows to eat a few.

Sunday afternoon, it seemed a hawk got a little close to the territory of the crows and four of them ganged up on the larger bird and made life miserable for him.

The last time I saw the hawk he was heading high in the sky across Highway 90.

Wasn't last week's rain something else? I cannot recall thunder and lightning being so heavy and lasting so long.

I have heard several rainfall amounts for Monday night and Tuesday ranging from five inches to more than eight inches.

I know we had a rather dry October, but it seems we are making up for it in November.

The number of people voting, many who had to wade to the polls for Tuesday's special elections, shows the concern of many citizens.

I cannot recall a voting location having to be moved on election morning, but the rains caused that to become a reality.

We seem to have had so many elections recently and we do have to look forward to elections in the City of Waveland and a Congressional election next year.

We need not forget the Senatorial run-off election on Tuesday November 21. This race involves all of Hancock County's voters except two precincts.

A run-off election will be held on Tuesday, November 21 for the Hancock County Constable East position. That race will involve about half of the qualified electors of the county.

So voters need to get ready for the next election.

I have never seen a person as happy as Mariano Perez since he reunited with his children after 14 years.

And to think, it was through a prisoner he was able to make contact with his 'lost' children.

I had seen Perez several times as he placed advertisements for his house painting business and he always seemed to have been in a good mood.

He is a minister and also has been counseling Cuban detainees in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility.

It was through the son of one of the Cuban detainees Perez was able to make contact with a son and two daughters who were in Florida.

I think something that is really ironic, is the fact that one of his daughters also counsels Cuban detainees in Florida.

It is a long story as to how he and his family were separated, but it just goes to show that a person must never give up hope.

This is a small world at times.

FROM THE SENATE

By U.S. Senator
Trent Lott

There must be a better way

Sadly, I watched recently as two federal judges were impeached by the United States Senate. I was saddened not only to see two judges, Alcee Hastings of Florida and Walter Nixon of Mississippi were removed from the federal bench, but also because it took too long to do it; too long for the judiciary system, too long for the judges themselves, and too long for the taxpayers who once again foot the bill. There must be a better way.

Judge Hastings was indicted on Dec. 29, 1981. Judge Nixon was convicted on Feb. 9, 1986. Hastings' Senate trial alone lasted more than a year.

Why did it take so long to remove these men from office? The answer is the Constitution. Article I, Section 3 of the Constitution gives the Senate the sole power to try all impeachments. Article II, Section 4 provides that "The President, Vice President and all Civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on Impeachment for and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors. But federal judges are also subject to Article III, Section 1, which stipulates that judges shall serve only during "good behavior." This is a stricter standard of conduct than the impeachment standard—and provides the basis for an alternate way of removal.

In the 200 years since the adoption of the Constitution, only 13 judges have been impeached; only seven, convicted and ousted. Limited judicial misconduct and a reverence for judicial independence have discouraged Congress for two centuries from legislative removal procedures for misbehaving federal judges. This prolonged inaction has persisted despite Congress' acknowledgment that impeachment, as the sole method of removal, is lacking.

I am proposing that a law be passed which would empower a panel of three federal judges, appointed by the chief justice of the U.S., on unanimous vote, to remove one of their own for misbehavior. The removal, as I am proposing it, would be made at the behest of the U.S. attorney general, if he alleges and proves facts constituting a federal felony in a special civil removal trial. This strict criminal standard would reduce the likelihood of partisan accusations.

The attorney general would prosecute the case according to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Special procedural safeguards pertinent in criminal prosecutions—proof beyond a reasonable doubt, right to confront all adverse testimony, the exclusionary rule, the right to silence—would be inapplicable because removal proceedings inflict no punishment. A unanimous verdict by the three presiding judges would be required to remove, and that decision would be final; the end of the appellate process.

Some might argue that this is a threat to judicial independence. It is not because neither the legislative nor executive branch could compel removal of a judge for alleged misconduct. That authority would be lodged solely within the federal judiciary itself.

I wish I could take credit for this idea, but I can't. The House of Representatives passed a similar bill, which died later in the Senate, on Oct. 22, 1941.

It was a good idea then and it is an idea worth considering today.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

Drugs have reached even the state's work places

The drug plague which has harmed this country for the past quarter century has spread to all quarters, including Mississippi's workplace.

However, according to a field representative at one of the state's largest chemical dependency centers, most small business managers don't believe the problem exists.

Nothing was more alarming to one of those business managers, who a year earlier had stated his town and business was too small for a drug problem, than receiving results from an employee drug test showing that 22 of his 25 employees tested positive for marijuana use.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ASRM critics distrust NASA

Dear Editor:

On Nov. 9 you ran a letter from Teddy M. LaMunyon of Picayune.

One thing came to mind: the little cartoon with the guy rolling on the floor in tears with laughter saying, "You want WHAT?!"

Asking John Q. Public to trust NASA is asking us to forget that they knew there was trouble with the O rings on the Challenger's solid rocket motors well in advance of the disaster.

It is asking us to forget the seven astronauts on the Challenger who trusted NASA. It is asking us to forget that they knew the danger of the weather that fatal morning in January, 1986. It is asking us to forget that they have a history of not paying attention to meteorologists on many of their projects.

No, I think that we critics are much more responsible than Mr. LaMunyon and NASA. Blind trust in the federal government and its darling, NASA, is a thing of the past.

I am proud to be associated with this battle for it is for our health as well as the environment. I am proud to know such people as Dwight Bradshaw and Dr. Robert Esher. They are people acting in the most responsible way individuals can. They have sacrificed a great deal for the communities surrounding NASA.

Dr. Zacharius and Mississippi State University might want to distance themselves from these individuals because of politics, but the people surrounding NASA are drawing closer to Dr. Esher and Mr. Bradshaw—for truths. For answers. For questions that no one can answer. Because the truth is: we will be guinea pigs for something never done before.

No tests of this magnitude have ever been done in the middle of forests and wetlands and in the middle of heavily populated areas.

Mr. LaMunyon's letter was full of holes. NASA may have deserved trust in the early sixties, but they do not have my trust, faith or respect right now. They have not answered any questions because they don't know the answers. They will after the tests. Right?

And you want my WHAT???

History parallels as dissidents try secession

To the Editor:

Does history repeat? Well, probably not exactly, but sometimes there are interesting parallel situations. Now some of the Soviet states would like to secede and set up their own government. It is reasonable to assume that the Soviet government will allow these states to secede?

Who knows the answer to that question? And who are we to point the finger or cast the first stone? So far there have been some skirmishes with some loss of life.

Back in 1861, when some of our states tried to secede, the result was the long and bloody War Between the States, sometimes referred to as the Civil War. There was very heavy loss of life on both sides, not to mention the material cost of this war between two nations, one of which was determined to hold the other against its will. And at great cost in human lives they did succeed in so doing. No state of these United States has been allowed to secede and go its way in peace.

Will the Soviet Russian government allow the dissident states to secede and go in peace? Time will tell. But don't expect miracles.

You might enjoy smoking,
but I hate washing ashtrays

Thursday, the 13th annual Great American Smokeout, the day each year when the American Cancer Society asks people to stop smoking for 24 hours. Its name makes it sound like one of those occasions invented by Madison Avenue, but I still think it's a good idea.

So, I want to talk about smoking. I don't do it.

I made it through half a cigarette once, when two smoker friends were discussing the fact that cigarette prices had gone to a dollar a pack and were deciding whether to cut down. I told one of the men I couldn't understand why they wanted to spend money on such things, so he lit one for me.

Smoking definitely landed in the Number One spot on my list of the world's Top Ten Most Boring Activities.

Once the habit begins, it's hard to quit. I know because my parents smoked for many years and when one would try to quit and the other was still smoking, it wasn't worth trying. They finally had to quit together.

I probably breathed so much second-hand smoke during the first 20 years of my life that I'll never need to take up smoking. I've inhaled enough smoke while working fires to make up for not using cigarettes.

I know I inhaled so much smoke at a recent Hancock North Central game that I'll never want a cigarette. I can handle a little smoke where they're grilling hamburgers, but some fool had set the woods near the school on fire and the smoke had settled over the football field.

I'm sure I got most of my second-hand smoke in restrooms at my high school, which had designated smoking areas for kids with permits signed by their parents but also had many students whose parents never knew they smoked.

A recent Echo staff meeting brought up the possibility of declaring the entire office a no-smoking zone or designating a smoking area.

Personally, I'm for the designated area. I understand how hard it is to quit smoking through ex-smokers I used to live with, and I wouldn't force that on anybody. I also hate smoke-filled restrooms.

It's not the smoking I've got a problem with as much as the ashes.

I once had a "No Smoking" sign on my desk to keep people from dropping ashes all over the place when they talked to me or borrowed my phone. Even if I provided an ashtray, most people seemed careless about their aim.

I took the sign home and put it in my little "office" there, and for some reason, people now respect my request. One reason might be the fact that the sign perches on my best (and only really old) piece of antique furniture. The other might be that I provide convenient ashtrays in other rooms, but never in there.

The sign I need at work says, "Smoke if you like—but bring your own ashtray."

That's what I'd really like at home, too, because I detest cleaning ashtrays. It's like washing dishes but the ashes want to stay in the sink and on me.

I saw a portable ashtray once in an antique shop. Obviously designed for a lady, it was a pretty little brass piece with pastel-colored enamel flowers on the lid. It's an antique I'd like to see come back into style, unless trends continue and smoking itself goes OUT.

Even smokers probably hate it when they go into a public restroom and have to wipe the ashes off the toilet seat before they sit down, or when they're in a restaurant and somebody puts out a cigarette in a dinner plate.

It's also unappetizing to collect dishes with ashes if you're the waitress who clears the plates away, and I've been there.

I once went out with a group and found myself paired with a guy who put his cigarette out in my drink—before I'd finished it. I told him just how crude he was and moved to another table, leaving him sitting alone.

I have several good friends who smoke and I allow them to do so. That's because they ask if I mind, never light up until everybody is finished eating and always put their ashes where they're supposed to be.

The manners these people show in an age where manners are quickly being forgotten are encouraging, as is the fact that I see fewer young people smoking.

Smoking is a choice and I don't mind giving people their right to choose what they want to do, but I kind of enjoy the Great American Smokeout anyway. It's the day I don't have to wash any ashtrays.

Nominations sought for Governor's Awards for Excellence in the Arts

The Mississippi Arts Commission is seeking nominations from the general public for the 1990 Governor's Awards for Excellence in the Arts. The deadline for nominations is Jan. 23.

The Governor's Awards for Excellence in the Arts will recognize exemplary artistic contributions made on a statewide, regional or local basis in past years or over a lifetime.

The award categories include: Design of Public Space Award; Heritage Award; Arts Patron Award; Arts Education

Award; Arts Partnership Award; and Mississippi Artist's Achievement Award.

The award winners will be selected by a noted jury. Presentation of the awards will be in March 1990 and winners must be present to receive their awards.

Information about the nomination process and official nomination forms may be obtained from the Mississippi Arts Commission, 239 North Lamar, Suite 207, Jackson, MS 39201 or telephone (601) 359-6030.

Drugs

requires that all businesses and industries which receive federal contracts of $25,000 or more must furnish written assurance that they are providing a drug-free workplace.

Also, the Department of Transportation now requires businesses involved with the interstate commerce of products to employ mandatory drug testing.

Experts involved in combating drug abuse have differing opinions on such drug testing. Some contend the policy should include all businesses which receive government contracts, regardless of whether they are federal or state contracts.

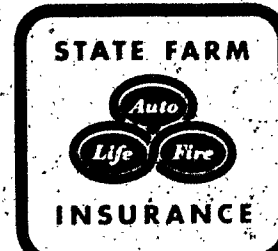

Others believe the effort is futile until treatment is available for employees testing positive.

Because some estimates suggest that drug abuse is costing the American economy $80 billion annually, businesses should expect to hear a lot more about this issue.

Designer Dolls

Diamondhead Women lovingly dressed 96 dolls and teddy bears for distribution to needy children through the Salvation Army. The efforts were coordinated by Margaret Plugfelder, wife of Bob Plugfelder, who is a member of the Advisory Board of the Hancock/Harrison chapter of the Salvation Army. The residents of Diamondhead are well-known by many charitable organizations for their successful fundraising efforts, but this donation of time was strictly "from the heart" as the women designed and sewed costumes for the dolls. Reflections On Life

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Prejudices poison us

As the people came up to receive Communion, I felt good enough about it to smile pleasantly at each. Suddenly, one lady had a slip of the lip, almost causing me to fumble the Sacred Host. I winced with a slight, involuntary tweek of displeasure. Unbeknown to me, I was in for a quick lesson in prejudice.

Almost immediately after this incident, another lady likewise twitched while receiving Communion, again almost causing me to drop the Sacred Bread. This time, however, I did not wince. To my utter, immediate surprise, my instant, involuntary reaction was to make myself even more helpful than usual.

The most amazing thing in this whole sequence was my immediate and complete understanding of why I reacted so differently to the two ladies.

Even now, I feel ashamed to admit that my involuntary reaction came as a direct result of the fact that the first lady was a plain Jane, while the second was quite special to look at.

That, to say the least, was a rare treat in the process of being educated, for we are seldom in a position to catch ourselves in the very act of practicing prejudice. Prejudice is so ingrained a thing that it usually sneaks up on us and wreaks its havoc before we are able to spear it in action and break it down.

What the disturbing little incident did most of all was frighten me thoroughly. It forced me to wonder how many little, unperceived prejudices might be poisoning the wellsprings of my attitudes, my perceptions, my understanding and my very ideals.

And, if the wellsprings of all these are being poisoned by such unnoticed areas and pockets of prejudice within me, what unconscious mischief must they be working in me? What poisoned thoughts, and what tainted actions must be the offspring of such rancid wellsprings?

I doubt that any of you are strikingly different from me. If you are more fortunate than I, you do not react as I did to a prettier, more pleasant face, especially while in the act of dispensing or receiving Communion at the Lord's Supper.

However, we are definitely similar enough for you to reflect carefully on the likelihood that you must have at least one or the other, if not several, secret, unperceived prejudices which poison the fountains of whatever is at work in your attitudes, your thoughts, your words, your mannerisms and your actions.

All of us humans have the task of combing the Sacred Scriptures, meditating painstakingly on the person and life of Jesus, absorbing them into ourselves, and striving to imitate Jesus in his impartial outreach to every human being of any condition.

We know that a pretty face or a dazzling personality did not distract Jesus from the homely and the blah people around him, because the prophet Isaiah spells it out in chilling detail:

"There was in him no stately bearing to make us look at him, nor appearance that would attract us to him. He was spurned and avoided by men, a man of suffering, accustomed to infirmity... It was our infirmities that he bore" (Is. 53:2-4).

We veer away from Jesus whenever we veer away from other people's unattractiveness which, as Isaiah tells us, Jesus appropriated to himself. Anytime we recoil because of someone's size, color, facial features or condition of poverty, we back off from Jesus.

Recognizing, admitting and fighting the big prejudices in our life is of prime importance to us as Christians. However, our most difficult task may be discovering our secret prejudices.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

With Thanksgiving just a little more than a week away, our area supermarkets are well stocked with "all the fixins" for the traditional feast—and shoppers, like canny squirrels storing nuts for the winter, are hurrying to make their plans and take advantage of the special savings offered!

Jitney Jungle continues its super special on turkeys—from self basting 10- to 22-pounders to butterball young birds and smoked turkey (8 to 12-pound average) as well as turkey breasts, so, there's a size and sort to suit you, whatever the size of your family.

Other area stores also offer bargains on turkeys—and at Winn-Dixie the whole smoked hams are heaped up on the meat counters, at special savings.

We all have our own methods of cooking turkey and ham, don't we? But both offer quite a few of other "leftover" meals for the money—all the way down to Tom or Tomasina's carcass for turkey soup or turkey gumbo—or the Porker's bone for red beans or whatever!

Thanksgiving tradition in our family as far back as I remember, and that's a long time, is the cut glass bowl piled high with ambrosia, a tradition at Christmas Dinner also. There are many versions of this Southern delicacy but the one I like best is:

MARY BREATH'S AMBROSIA

8 to 10 large oranges
Powdered sugar for sprinkling over oranges
1 cup, at least, flaked or shredded coconut

Orange juice for sprinkling.
First, peel the oranges, being careful to remove all the outer membrane, and cut into slices or sections. Layer in a large serving bowl, the prettiest clear one you have, and sprinkle with powdered sugar, then with the flaked or shredded coconut. Sprinkle a little orange juice over, and then start all over again with another layer of oranges, sugar, coconut and orange juice. And, again, if you've more space in the bowl and more oranges, etc., left. Cover, and refrigerate for at least an hour before serving. (12 servings).

—from Katy's Cookbook, Cooking Up a Storm

You may add sliced bananas or seedless green grapes if you wish—and one cook I know pours a bottle of chilled gingerale over the mixture just before serving!

So, scoop up a 5-pound bag of oranges at special savings at National, along with coconut from Winn-Dixie for your ambrosia. * * *

And save some of those oranges to accent a tangy chicken dish, chicken's a bargain with breast quarters and wings on special at National, 10-pound bags of leg quarters at Delchamps, Lots-O-Chix, assorted pieces at Winn-Dixie, for instance. Try:

CHICKEN WITH ORANGE SAUCE

Simple, but simply delicious: Broil, bake, or fry or saute the pieces of your choice, and serve with the sauce atop. I like to taste chicken breast quarters with a bit of the sauce while baking, then serve with the sauce, quickly made this way:

3 Tbsp. orange juice
Grated rind of one orange
2 Tbsp. lemon juice
1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1/4 cup currant jelly

Mix all ingredients in saucepan, and stir over low heat just until jelly melts, pour over chicken just before serving. This is also good over pork chops or ham.

Literacy tutor training workshop slated

The Adult Literacy Program, a project of the Hancock County Library System, will hold a tutor training workshop on Thursday, Nov. 16 from 6 to 9 p.m. in the library meeting room.

Volunteers are being sought to train in one-on-one tutoring, along with other capacities, such as small group instruction, computer assistance and computer literacy.

The program was established by the Hancock County Library System in 1987, and is funded through a Job Partnership Training Act Grant through the State Department of Education and with local library systems funds through Hancock County and the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Those interested in volunteering in any capacity in the Adult Literacy Program should contact Literacy Coordinator Ruth Krebs at the library at 467-5282.

Hawks clear first playoff hurdle with 24-7 victory

BY D.C. HARVILL

The second time is the charm. At least that was the case with the Hancock North Central Hawks Friday night in the school's second ever play-off game.

When the Hawks traveled to South Jones last year for their first game at the play-off level, they walked away disappointed. But when they faced the Laurel Tornadoes in Hawk Stadium Friday things could not have been more different. From the kickoff to the 24-7 final, the Hawks proved they could out tough a much bigger team. Shedding tacklers and hurdling blockers, Sophomore running back Terrance Goff set the standard of performance for the rest of the team.

"I couldn't ask for a better effort. The kids played great," Head Coach Irvin Favre said. In the first quarter Goff initiated the Hawk's scoring for the evening when he took a Casey Davis pass in from 18-yards out.

Jose Santos' PAT was true and the Hawks took a 7-0 lead.

After forging to the 29-yard line, with 8:56 left in the second quarter, the Hawks upped their margin 10-0 with a Santos field goal.

With 2:05 to go in the quarter, the Tornadoes retaliated. In what turned out to be his team's only TD of the game, Chris McCardle barely managed to reach the endzone before falling prey to Hawks defenders. The extra point was good.

At the end of the half, the Hawk's lead had narrowed to 10-7.

The Hawks dominated the second half, capitalizing on several Tornado turnovers and Laurel's penalties totalling 74 yards.

Six minutes into the half, Goff ploughed through the big Tornado defense at the goal culminating a 59 yard drive by the Hawks. Santos' foot proved faithful to the cause, making it 17-7.

A Tornado fumble, on their next possession, was recovered by the Hawks Bobby Doyle and returned to the Laurel 5 from the 25 yard line. Two more plays and Goff was over the line. Santos' extra point sealed the Hawks victory at 24-7.

"We knew it was going to be tough, but when you reach this level you have to be prepared to play the best teams around. We are just a small scrapping football team," Favre said.

The Hawks, with a 10-1 record, have not lost a game at home since 1985. Their last 10-win season was in 1977.

They will advance to the second round of playoffs against the 9-2 South Jones next Friday. Kickoff will be 7:30.

Fans interested in riding a chartered bus to the game at South Jones can sign up at Kiln Auto Parts. The cost is $10.

Special to the Echo

By Tom Ackerman

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws kick off their 1989-90 basketball season this Tuesday at the Brother Peter Gym facing Pope John Paul of Slidell.

Coached by Chuck Genin, the Rocks will rely heavily on the experience of three returning starters, Shannon Garrett, Greg Schruoff and Chris Perronne.

Last year, the Rocks sported a 19-9 season overall and an 8-2 district record. Now in his fourth year at the helm of the Rocks, Genin says the competition in the district will be tight this year.

"Our schedule is very tough," Genin noted. "Besides our district battles, we play Bay High, they are much improved; Fairhope, Alabama, Pascagoula, Vandebilt of Houma, La., and possibly Stone County and Philadelphia, Miss., whom we could meet in the SSC tournament."

After the opening contest on Tuesday at home, the Rocks will travel on Thursday to the Hancock North Central Invitational Tournament, Nov. 16-18, facing their cross-town rival Bay High.

Playing three games in the tournament, SSC will go up against Ocean Springs on Friday, and Hancock on Saturday. The overall winner will be determined by number of wins and, if necessary, total points.

Looking at the district schedule the Rocks face, Genin said: "I feel we have a good chance in our district, but it will be tough. After seeing other district teams play, our district should be well-balanced. Anyone can beat anyone on a given night."

Besides the returning starters, 6-0 senior Garrett at forward; 6-2 senior Perronne at center; and 5-10 senior Schruoff at point guard, the Rocks will also have the experience of 6-3 senior Roger Maxey, 5-10 senior Mike Cromwell, 5-10 senior Cedric Smith, 6-1 senior David Alexander, and 5-9 junior Ken Booker.

Newcomers to the team include 6-2 junior Galen Smith, 6-1 junior Scott Petersen, 6-1 junior Eric York, 5-10 junior Brian Martin, and 6-1 junior Manning Montagnet.

With their experience the Rocks should be a contender in district play. "We are a senior ball club," Genin commented. "I feel like our team has dedicated themselves to winning and hopefully gain a playoff spot, which would be the first in nearly thirty years for SSC in basketball."

The opening game of the season against Pope John Paul will be played at home immediately following the Junior Varsity game which gets underway at 6 p.m.

In the Hancock Tournament, the Rocks are matched against

Junior Hawks net Crab Bowl victory

Special to the Echo

by Monica Malley

Hancock North Central's seventh and eighth grade Hawks football team finished their season on Nov. 4 with a 30-0 victory over St. John in the 12th Annual Crab Bowl.

Hawk's halfback Matt Harmon scored all four of the team's touchdowns in the bowl to earn the Most Valuable Offensive Player title.

Harmon's first score in his series of TDs came on a run from eight yards out. Lance Wedgeworth then carried the ball to complete a two-point conversion, giving the Hawks a 9-0 lead.

Harmon made his second TD from 45 yards. The conversion attempt failed and Hancock's lead broadened to 14-0.

The third Hawk's score came on a spectacular 62-yard run by Harmon. The conversion was completed on a pass from quarterback Scotty Davis to Wedgeworth. At the end of the first half the Hawks led 22-0.

The final TD of the game was made on a 15-yard run by Harmon. The Davis-Wedgeworth combination again paid off on the conversion, giving the Hawks a 30-0 final score.

The Hawks closed the season with a 7-1 record under the direction of Head Coach Joe Shaw and assistant Andy Perniciaro.

The team scored a total of 154 points in the season, averaging 19 points per game. They gave up only 48 points.

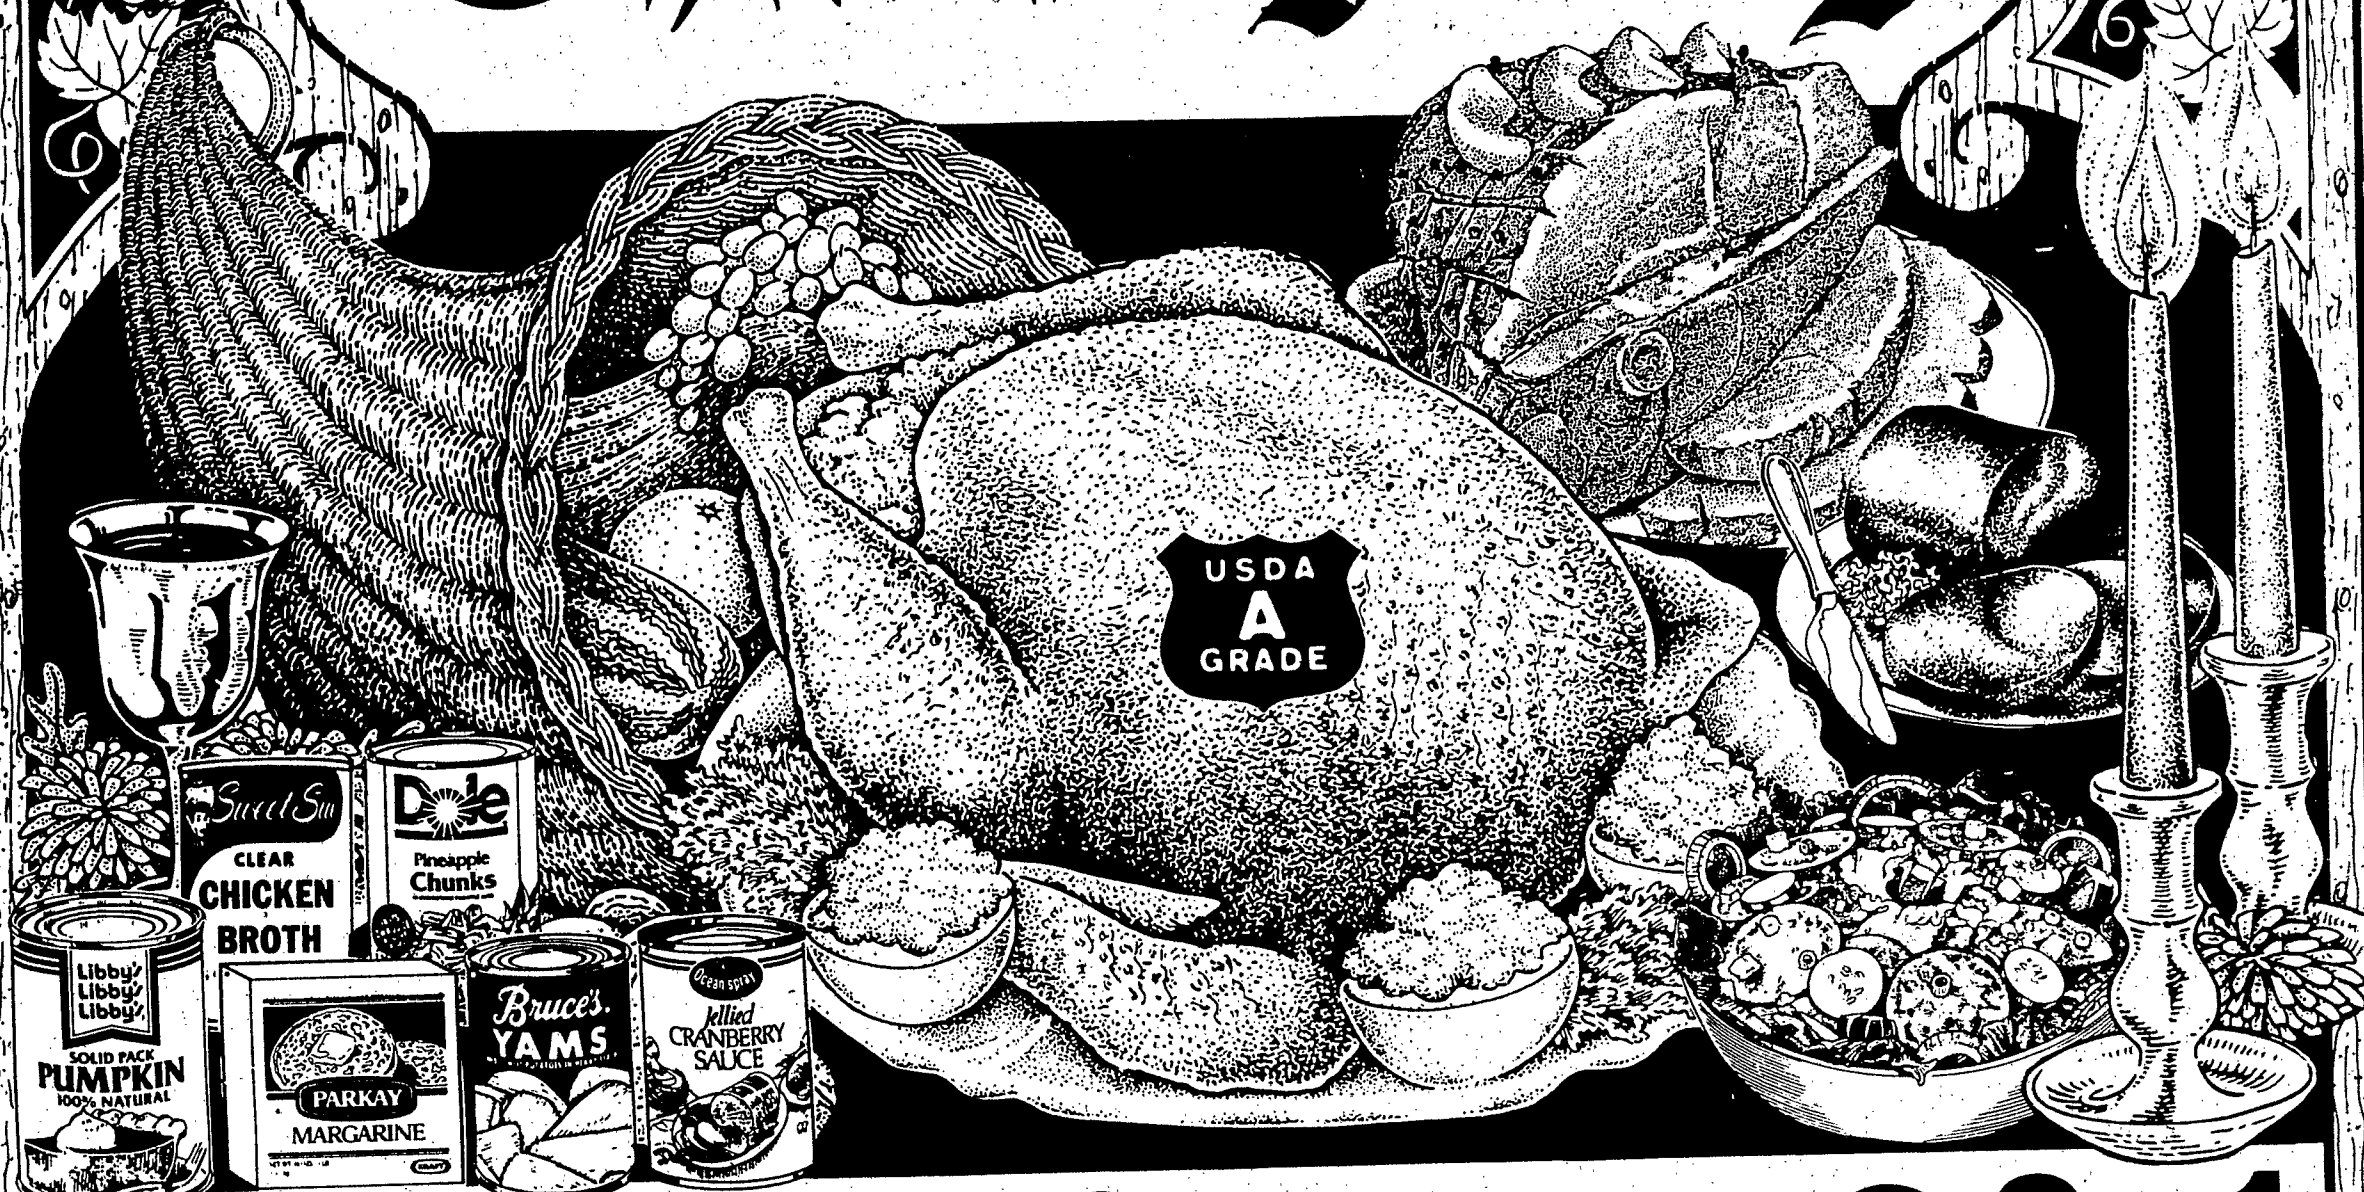

CEHS basketball game rescheduled

The Coast Episcopal High School home basketball game scheduled for Monday night has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 14.

The junior varsity will play at 5:30 p.m. and the varsity will play at 6:30 p.m. The Raiders will play against Marrero Academy from New Orleans in the CEHS gym on Espy Avenue in Pass Christian.

NOTICE OF SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES SALE

WHEREAS, HENRY TOMASICH AND WIFE, MAUDE TOMASICH became indebted to ASSOCIATED FINANCIAL SERVICES COMPANY OF MISSISSIPPI, INC., a Corporation, in order to secure the indebtedness, executed and delivered on June 3, 1988 a Deed of Trust to Robert H. Castle, Trustee for ASSOCIATED FINANCIAL SERVICES COMPANY OF MISSISSIPPI, INC., Beneficiary, which Deed of Trust is recorded in Book 289 at Page 802 of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land on file in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, on the 29th day of September, 1989, Associated Financial Services Company of Mississippi, Inc., holder of the said Deed of Trust hereby named and substituted Blewett W. Thomas in place of and instead of said Trustee, which substitution is recorded in Book 303 at Page 448 of the Trust Deeds in the Office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi;

WHEREAS, the said Deed of Trust provided that, in the event default is made in the payment of the indebtedness, an additional amount shall be added thereto as attorney's fees, and default has been made in the payment of the indebtedness, and Association of Financial Services Company of Mississippi, Inc., has exercised the option provided in the Note evidencing the said indebtedness declaring the whole of the unpaid principal balance immediately due and payable, as well as attorney's fees; and

WHEREAS, the said Deed of Trust provides that, in the event of default, the Trustee shall, upon the request or demand of the Beneficiary, sell said property, as is provided in the said Deed of Trust; and

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the indebtedness, and Association of Financial Services Company of Mississippi, Inc., the Beneficiary, has requested the undersigned Substitute Trustee to make foreclosure under said Deed of Trust;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Blewett W. Thomas, do hereby give notice that I will, on November 13, 1989, during legal hours, at the front door of the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, offer for sale and sell at public outcry to the highest and best bidder for cash, the following described property in said Deed of Trust, said property being located in Hancock County, Mississippi, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Lot 59 and 60, FELICITY SUBDIVISION, First Ward, City of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Mississippi, as per official plat of said subdivision on file in the Office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi, and recorded in Book D-0, pages 368-369.

The undersigned substitute trustee will sell and convey only such title to said property as was vested in him by the Deed of Trust, the Substitution of Trustee, and its foreclosure.

SIGNED, PUBLISHED, AND ADVERTISED on this 17th day of October, 1989.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Diamondhead Garden Club

The Diamondhead Garden Club hosted the Nov. 3 meeting of the Gulf Coast Council in the fellowship hall of the Diamondhead Baptist Church.

Approximately 75 members from garden clubs along the Coast were in attendance. Mrs. Kenneth D. Ernst of Biloxi is president of the Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs.

Chris Montgomery of the Diamondhead Garden Club planned and executed all of the Thanksgiving decorations which adorned the fellowship hall and served as chairman for the attractively arranged refreshments which were enjoyed by all.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Flower Show Judges presented "It's A Small World," a standard specialized flower show.

A Bonsai exhibit, miniature design containers, small design containers and miniature and small decoration ideas were on display.

There were a number of design and horticulture exhibits as well, with some imaginative and very attractive miniature arrangements. Pat Steele served as show chairman.

Pass Christian Garden Club

The Pass Christian Garden Club held its November 2 meeting at the Hancock Bank Civic Center. Mrs. J. Morgan Lyons and Mrs. Evelyn Friedman served as co-hostesses for the tea which followed the meeting.

Guest speaker was Connie Rocko, Harrison County beautification director, who spoke on "Litter Control and Beautification of Highways." This group is carrying on the program which was originally started by Lady Bird Johnson and named "Keep America Beautiful."

Rocko emphasized the point that each individual should help to eliminate the litter problem in the community by recycling as much waste material such as cans, plastics, newspapers, cardboard cartons, etc.

She stated that Japan is currently recycling 50 percent of their waste, whereas the United States is recycling only 10 percent. The committee is working to obtain a site in the area where recycling can be accomplished, but they need the support of civic groups, government, business and industry, community, schools and neighborhoods to encourage people to get started on this program, she said.

Members of the club were urged to enter the Gulf Coast Camellia Show Nov. 18 and 19 at the Gulf Coast Community Hospital.

The club was also asked to participate in decorating one of the buildings in the Pass by the chairman of the "Christmas in the Pass" night on Dec. 1.

The next meeting will be the "Christmas Tea" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stanbro.

Friendship Oak DAR

Keith Hardison, supervisor of Beauvoir, was the speaker at the Nov. 8 meeting of the Friendship Oak Chapter, National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, at the library of the Beauvoir Museum Building.

Hardison told in detail the story of Jefferson Davis' final days, from his departure from Beauvoir for his plantation at Briarwood to his death in New Orleans on Dec. 6, 1889.

Beauvoir, which is already draped in mourning crepe, will be observing the centennial of Davis' death with a reception on Dec. 9 following a Memorial Service at the Church of the Redeemer, Biloxi.

Following a box luncheon hosted by Mrs. Philip Davenport, Mrs. Archie Graham and Mrs. Frances Wilson, the regular meeting commenced.

Delegates elected to represent the chapter at state conference to be in Tupelo Feb. 15-17 are Mrs. James B. Brumfield, Mrs. E. George Cassis, Mrs. William J. Gemmel, Mrs. Sidney H. Ruskin and Mrs. James R. Thomas.

Mrs. Sidney H. Ruskin will host the annual Christmas Silver Tea on Dec. 9 at 2 p.m. The chapter's three DAR Good Citizens will be honored at that time.

Sierra Club

The public is invited to attend a Sierra Club sponsored presentation by the Citizens for a Healthy Environment, a Coast-based group opposed to the proposed solid rocket test firing at Stennis Space Center.

A video of similar firings in Utah will be shown and the representatives will answer questions about the group's position. The meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Marine Education Center, Hwy. 90, Biloxi. There is no admission, and refreshments will be served. Call 435-2623 for information.

HMC to present healthy cooking seminar Nov. 14

Create magic in your kitchen this holiday season—and make it healthy.

Hancock Medical Center will be hosting for the second year, "Healthy Holiday Cooking" with the Landmark Restaurant on Tuesday, Nov. 14 at 7 p.m. in the HMC cafeteria.

In this free seminar, Landmark chef Mike Jones will demonstrate how to prepare a delicious variety of holiday dishes, low in salt and cholesterol, that even heart patients can enjoy.

Hosting the program will be HMC's consulting dietician Jamie Woodham, MS, RD. The course will cover basic nutrition principles and ways to modify holiday recipes to be healthy, but retain good taste.

Participants will receive copies of all recipes and will sample the prepared dishes.

Reservations for the class must be made by Monday, Nov. 13, as seating is limited.

To make reservations, call 467-9081 ext. 2180.

IMPRESSIONISTS

The painting, the impressionist and the impressionist periods are among the most familiar—and most revolutionary—images in art.

On the next "Art of the Western World" at 9 p.m., Monday Nov. 13, on Mississippi ETV, host Michael Wood explores the realism of Courbet, the artist who paved the way for such major impressionists as Manet, Renoir, Pissarro, Degas and Monet, whose studio and famous gardens at Giverny are visited.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Neither cornbread nor a corn soufflé, but somewhere in between and utterly delicious—that's the famed Southern Spoon Bread, a soft and moist, somewhat custardy cornbread which has been a standby in Southern cuisine since Colonial Days!

Spoon Bread, so called because its texture mandates that it be "carried in its dish to the table and served with a spoon" since it is not firm enough to be sliced as is the usual cornbread, is a tasty accompaniment to those other stars in the firmament of Southern cookery, baked ham or fried chicken.

The corn meal gives the batter a denser texture than the soufflé, and the spoon bread doesn't fall as quickly as the soufflé if kept waiting a bit! It was the native Indians who originated the idea, cooking up the corn meal into a porridge or sort of pudding, but it was Southern cooks of long ago who elaborated upon the idea, turning out a fluffy, elegant, deep dish version of cornbread.

Most Southern cooks make their spoon bread with white corn meal, stone ground if available; but others use yellow corn meal. Some add a bit of sugar; others scorn the thought of sugar in this dish.

Just as most Southerners—and others—agree that Southern Fried Chicken is a masterpiece of cookery, but get into heated arguments as to methods of preparation, so is there great difference of opinion as to Spoon Bread, its contents and preparation.

Some cooks prefer "sweet" milk, others, buttermilk. Some add water to the recipe, others decried the addition of water, and so on. But all agree, Spoon Bread, fresh from the oven, puffy light golden brown atop, lavished with melted butter, with its custardy insides, is a treat at any meal!

Here's a recipe for: SOUTHERN SPOON BREAD

1 cup milk
2 cups water
1 cup white corn meal
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. baking powder
2 eggs, separated, the yolks and whites beaten
1 Tbsp. butter

In saucepan, place the milk and water and add the meal and salt, cook for five minutes.

Then, add the beaten egg yolks, the baking powder, and butter. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, and pour the mixture into well greased casserole dish. Bake at 425 degrees for 40 minutes, or until puffy and light golden brown, atop, custardy in the center. (Six servings.) And here's one using buttermilk:

SPOON BREAD

1 cup meal
1 cup boiling water
1 cup buttermilk
1/4 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
2 eggs, beaten
2 Tablespoons butter

Pour the boiling water over the meal, stirring well, then add the buttermilk, along with the salt, soda, beaten eggs and butter (softened).

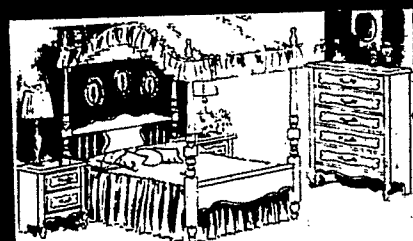

Bake in a well-greased casserole dish for an hour at 350 degrees. (Six servings.)

There are many, many variations, also additions to spoon bread. I like to add a bit, say half a cup or less, of finely diced ham or shredded cheese, or even cooked corn kernels to the Spoon Bread on occasion—this makes a tasty luncheon or supper or brunch dish.

BY D.C. HARVIL
The 16-year-old son of Lombardo said his mother's sister told him about father's death before it was discovered, according to testimony by Bay Police Ray Murphy.

Testifying at a bond hearing for Fran and Mari Lombardo Tuesday, Murphy also said the son's father's death was not taken a medical examination for a $100,000 insurance policy taken out in his approximately one year before his death.

Count as new

BY DENA BISNET
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has approved selection of Paul Moody as county's new veteran's officer.

Moody succeeds Sandberg, who resigned recently after several years' service. At a meeting Wednesday to hire the board agreed to reappoint Garber's service with a letter of appreciation.

Moody, a former Kmart employee who recently moved to Hammond, was selected from a pool of 25 applicants as one of the finalists screened by representatives of the county.

Wilkerson to fire

BY DENA BISNET
A Waveland police officer rumored to be fire department accepted a job with Waveland Fire Department.

Mayor John Longo Jr. said that he is prohibited from making statements regarding details of personnel matters under the Privacy Act.

However, he met with Wilkerson Jr. Friday after consulting the board of aldermen at an executive session prior to a regular board meeting.

Longo said at that time he had placed Wilkerson on permanent suspension without pay from the police department but had offered a lateral move to the fire department with the knowledge
